"The Good Slice of Life"

Rev. George Schuessler

Edgar A. Guest writes:

1 When the bees are in the clover,
And a blue sky's bending over
The old world aglow with sunshine
Just as far as I can see;
When the breezes are suggesting
All the happiness of resting
Though it's time to gather honey,
Then I'm glad I'm not a bee.

2 There are some who flit for money
As the bee goes after honey;
There are splendors all around them
Which they never pause to see.
They are slaves to Tyrant Duty,
But when summer spills her beauty
And makes days as fair as this one,
Then I'm glad I'm not a bee.

3 Oh! I think it is much better
Not to be a honey getter;
I would rather lie and dream here
Underneath this shady tree.
Let the busy bee keep working,
Here's a day just made for shirking;
In this lovely summer weather,
I don't want to be a bee.

As summer spills her beauty and when the breezes are suggesting all the happiness of resting, I seek the shady tree. God seems to understand this all too well as he set the guideline for living in the Ten Commandments. "Remember the Sabbath day and keep it holy. Six days you shall labor and do all your work. But the seventh day is a Sabbath to the Lord your God; you shall not do any work, you, your son or your daughter, your male or female slave, your livestock, or the alien resident in your towns. For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that is in them, but rested the seventh day; therefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath day and consecrated it." (Exodus 20:8-11)

Amid all the business of life that clutters our lives we need to hear these words from Edgar and the Lord God. How many of us are worn thin? How many are exhausted as we near the dreaded burnout. There's not enough time, too much to do, and rest is often interrupted by some Tyrant Duty. Why do we overbook our lives with the business of this world? "Vanity of vanities, says the Teacher, vanity of vanities! All is vanity. What do people gain from all the toil at which they toil under the sun? I saw all the deeds that are done under the sun; and see, all is vanity and a chasing after wind." (Ecclesiastes 1:2-3,14)

Martin Luther in his explanation of the 3RD Commandment writes, "We are to be reverent and love God, so that we do not despise preaching or God's Word, but instead keep that Word holy and gladly hear and learn it." Now is the time for all of us to examine ourselves and strive for the Good Slice of Life. To stop and smell the roses, to sit in the shade of God's tree in the sanctuary of the Church, and to respond to Jesus' invitation, "Come to me, all you that are weary and carrying heavy burdens and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn from me; for I am gentle and humble in heart, and you will find rest for your souls." (Matthew 11:28-29) Sunday mornings do make sense, because I don't want to be a bee.

Inviting Generosity!

So much has been written by and for fundraisers about “the ask.” There is a bit of overhyped mythology around asking someone for a gift or gift commitment.

First, let's review how we get to the “ask,” what I prefer to call the “invitation.”

The first step is that we must identify who we are inviting to be generous. In the congregational context, that's pretty easy—it's our members (or act-like members). Next, we want to inform these prospective donors what we are raising money for: replacing the roof? The parking lot? A new Bible study curriculum? The third—and I would argue most important—step is to inspire our prospective donors by linking the request to a vision of enhanced ministry. Tell the story of how someone's life will be changed for the better as a result of a donor's generosity.

Finally, it is time to invite that generosity. Your first job is to listen to the donor. What are they passionate about? Is this a project or ministry that they would be excited to support?

If you are inviting a major gift, a challenge gift, or a lead gift for a campaign, it is important to meet the prospective donor (and their spouse) in person. Use a case statement to inform and inspire them. Then share a proposal which invites them to prayerfully consider a specific gift or a specific range of gifts:

“...would you prayerfully consider a gift of $10,000?”

As you read that out loud, pause afterwards to let them consider your request. Let the donor break the silence.

Here's the most important thing to remember: your job is not to get a “yes.” It is, rather, to get a decision. We are not selling them anything, we are inviting them to be a part of something important.

As Henri Nouwen in his book “A Spirituality of Fundraising” writes, “We do not need to worry about the money. Rather, we need to worry about whether, through the invitation we offer the donor and the relationship we develop with them, they will come closer to God.”

Don't forget that you are not alone in this endeavor. My partner Pete Reuss and I are available for you to call, Zoom, email or text with questions or to simply talk through a visit with a donor in your congregation. Our contact information is on the ND Synod website under “staff.”

Go forth and invite generosity! It is life changing for the donor AND for your ministry.
